No suggestions

In the University of Mumbai's PHiMSR MMS Semester IV (Final Year) curriculum, I found the Project Management course particularly valuable. This course taught me essential skills such as planning, organizing, and managing resources to achieve project goals efficiently. The practical case studies and real-world applications discussed in the class helped me understand how to handle various challenges in project execution. Overall, it has significantly improved my ability to manage projects effectively in a professional setting.

The guest lectures somehow I find valuable as they provided the reality of the corporate world to the students

Yes. Every lecture was valuable

All the courses are equally valuable

There are some awesome courses that can be super valuable, One course that stands out is Consumer Behavior. It dives into why people buy things, what influences their decisions, and how businesses can use this info to market better. Another great course is Marketing Strategy. It's all about planning how to promote products or services effectively. These courses can really help you understand customers and create successful marketing campaigns.
